Featured Expert

John Harrison | Lecturer

An AHI lecturer for many years, John Harrison is also a historian, writer and broadcaster. He lives in Stirling and has a particular interest in the history of the town and the area, but his research has covered many aspects of Scotland's past. Over the last 20 years, John has worked on projects around some of Scotland's major castles. He was a core member of the team which recreated the splendidly refurbished interiors of the childhood home of Mary, Queen of Scots, in Stirling Castle. John was commissioned to write the official book about that project, "Rebirth of a Palace; The Royal Court at Stirling Castle," but he has also a wide range of other publications. His other interests are equally varied, including wildlife, gardening, reading, literature and walking.

Maya Bakhat | Lecturer

Maya Bakhat has been traveling all her life. Born in Morocco, she also lived in Germany and Portugal as a child before settling in Austria, where she currently lives. Maya also has been involved in the tourism industry since she graduated from high school in Vienna. While earning a bachelor's degree in history from the University of Vienna, she worked for a destination management company and also was a travel director for incentive programs and conventions in Europe, Africa and North America. So far, she has guided more than 20,000 travelers! Maya is fluent in English, French and German and can speak basic Spanish, Italian, Arabic, Czech and Hungarian.

Beata Karlikowska Travel Director

A native of Poland and a resident of Kraków, Beata grew up behind the Iron Curtain and willingly shares her knowledge about life during that period. She graduated from the University of Kraków with degrees in marketing and management and a specialization in tourism. Beata has worked as a tour leader and guide for 27 years, leading tours in almost all European countries and many outside Europe. She has worked exclusively for AHI Travel for 18 years. Beata is fluent in Polish, English and Russian and speaks conversational German and Italian. In her spare time, she is passionate about learning languages, history and dancing.

What first sparked your interest in travel?

A. Despite living behind the Iron Curtain, I had the opportunity to travel abroad as a child. I was struck by the diversity of the countries I visited and surprised by the different customs and mentalities. I quickly realized that traveling broadens horizons and encourages continuous learning and development. Thanks to my knowledge of English, right after my university graduation, I got the chance to work for a U.K. travel agency. It was to be a summer adventure and it continues to this day. Traveling and sharing my knowledge with our travelers has become a great part of my life.

What attracted you to AHI Travel?

A. The best things often happen by accident. A friend told me about interviews for a position in Kraków for AHI Travel on their Alumni Campus Abroad programs. I went to the interview, was selected and have been with AHI for 18 years!

What is your professional philosophy?

A. Travel educates. And this is not just the usual platitude but the truth itself. Continuous development and learning about new countries and their residents has made me a person who is open to people and their needs, patient and satisfied with my professional life.

Tell us about challenges and successes.

A. There have been many over the 27 years of my career. Challenges were everywhere in tourism in the 1990s — problems with crossing borders, bureaucracy and service levels. All of these things were somehow managed in the end. Thanks to such preparation, I believe that there is no situation without a way out. Success for me is hearing from my guests that my work and knowledge made our tour together unique and rewarding.

Can you share some inspiring moments?

A. For me, the most important thing is the atmosphere of the place I visit. It does not have to be the largest cathedral or the most visited museum in Europe, but these are important and our programs never miss such places. My great pleasures include getting to know small charming towns on our cruises, meeting locals, drinking coffee in a Lisbon cafe and sampling traditional delicacies at holiday markets. Our programs often offer places off the typical tourist track and this gives travelers a chance to really get to know a country. It's not only the culture that counts, but also the food, good wine or coffee. I cannot forget about the experts who often accompany our programs. Thanks to their lectures and knowledge, our programs become a well of fascinating knowledge and adventure.

"Thank you all for the wonderful trip to Chile and Patagonia. Torres del Paine is one of the most wondrous places that I have ever seen and Emiliano Rio is a treasure. His quick actions made the trip seamless. Victor, Christian and Lissette were outstanding local guides who had infinite knowledge and love for their lands. ... Again AHI is so fortunate to have such brilliant guides and travel managers."

AHI is committed to you

Our passion for authentic, responsible and life-changing travel experiences defines every program.

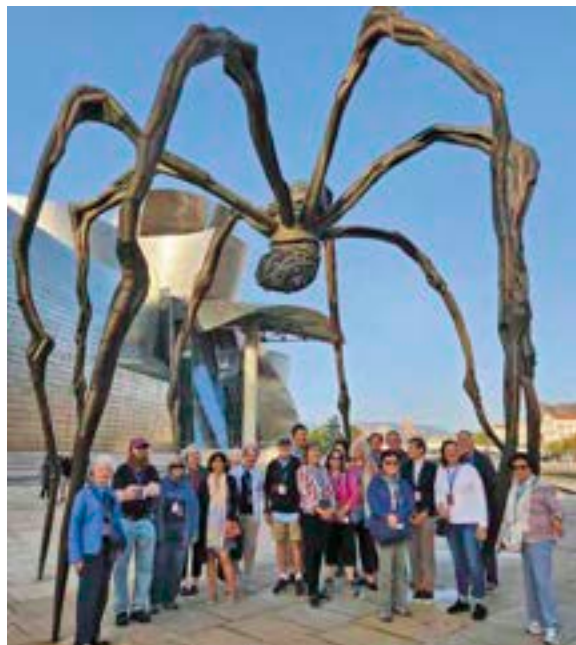

AHI Travel, a creative travel company, is recognized around the world for deluxe, personalized group travel programs. Travel industry pioneers Richard and Arlene Small founded the company in 1962, when they launched the first alumni travel programs at universities across the U.S. Soon after, they introduced AHI in Canada. They quickly earned an outstanding reputation for quality, service and value, which we continue to deliver today to alumni and individual travelers alike.

Personal involvement shapes every aspect of our tours. Long before we finalize a program, our team of experienced travel experts stay in the hotels, eat in the restaurants and visit every site.

We detail the things that matter most to travelers — for example, the number of cathedral steps you must climb or restaurants with the best food and views!

Our aim is to please you, period. By consistently meeting travelers' high expectations over the decades, we appeal to educated, cultured and experienced travelers — people like you. Many clients have been so pleased with our programs that they boast of taking 15, 20, even 30 trips with us!

We know you have many travel options and probably just as many questions. So call one of our AHI Travel experts at 800.323.7373. We look forward to helping you plan your trip.

A World of Discovery

The story of travel involves more than a ticket and a passport. It should weave together discovery, education and humanity, the best elements of any compelling tale. Your personal travel story begins with our commitment to delivering authentic experiences with local people.

"This trip was a wonderful introduction to Cuba, offering experiences the solo traveler is not likely to encounter.

I was very happy with the selection and variety of offerings... Osmin, Melissa and Carlos were wonderful and took good care of us! I learned so much and fell in love with Cuba and its people."

"The trip was outstanding from beginning to end – trip directors from AHI couldn't have been better, with their attention to detail and care and enjoyment of each and every person... All the local guides and bus drivers were excellent. I learned so much about the history and culture of Portugal, of which I knew little before the trip."

"My only other group travel experience was AHI's Cuba trip in 2017, which set a very high standard for my expectations. This trip was also outstanding in every way. Nani is outstanding as were all the speakers and guides. Nani's efficiency and warmth ensure that we, as travelers, know that the details are handled and we can enjoy our travels..."
