

Mission

The Society of 1918 is committed to growing women's engagement, leadership and philanthropy and to celebrating and honoring the women of William & Mary.

Vision

By 2023, W&M women will achieve a level of impact, influence and generosity at William & Mary commensurate with their majority representation in the alumni community.

Value Proposition

We believe that W&M women benefit from strong associations with other W&M women by cultivating shared learnings, experiences and perspectives. The Society of 1918 fosters the engagement of women in the life of the university in active and meaningful ways and impacts W&M's future through its continued generosity and leadership.

The Society's philanthropic investment and programming benefits a diverse constituency including current students, alumnae, parents, faculty and staff. Opportunities for W&M women are varied and include serving on a volunteer university board, participating in society events, mentoring, networking and advocating on behalf of the university while seeking to achieve a level of influence and representation commensurate with the broader W&M community.

Members of the society provide significant financial support to the university. We believe in our collective impact and in the benefits of a strong and growing network of women who dare to be bold and to inspire others in their commitment to W&M.
